PALM BEACH JUNIOR COLLEGE

JANUARY 1977

PBJC HEALTH FAIR

Seventeen health-oriented organizations will participate in a two day Health Fair at Palm Beach Junior College Feb. 15 - 16, according to Helen Diedrich, Director of Health Services at the college.

The Health Fair will be held in the Student Activity Center (SAC) Lounge from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. each day, the director said.

The Alcohol and Drug Abuse Council (ADAC) will have literature and posters available, the American Cancer Society will have video tapes, and the American Lung Association will do T.B. skin testing.

Films on Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation will be shown and the Heimlich Maneuver (a method of saving a choking person) explained by the American Red Cross, and the Biofeedback Training Center will present slides and hold a demonstration.

The Dental Health Auxiliaries of PBJC, both Dental Hygienists and Dental Assistants, will also have a slide presentation, and the Florida Diabetes Association will offer a film.

Those attending the Fair will be able to have their blood pressure checked by the Heart Association of Palm Beach County, and take a mental health quiz from Mental Health Association personnel.

Those attending may even wish to donate blood and then try food samples and see a film of the Palm Beach District Dietetic Association.

The Palm Beach County Optometric Auxiliary will do vision screening, while Physical Education majors from PBJC will demonstrate exercise routines between classes outside the SAC Lounge.

The Sexual Assault Assistance Project will show a film on rape and the hazards of Hitchhiking, while slides will be shown and appointments made for screening by the Sickle Cell Foundation.

The Speech and Hearing Center of PBJC will make appointments for hearing tests, and the Women's Medical Clinic will have pamphlets available, as holding workshops between noon and 1 p.m. each day.

The Student Health Services of PBJC will have a video presentation on venereal disease.

The Health Fair is sponsored by PBJC Student Health Services in cooperation with Phi Beta Kappa, the Student Government Association and PBJC Nursing students.

The public is invited to attend the Health Fair, and there is no charge for admission.

"Both Mrs. Mary Cannon, college nurse, and I feel the Health Fair will be of service not only to the students, faculty and staff at PBJC, but to the whole community," Miss Diedrich said.

Humanities Happenings

The Music Department will give much listening pleasure again on April 21 and 22 (Thursday and Friday at 8 PM) in their Spring music production in performances of "An Evening With Cole Porter". Remember how excellent and entertaining "An Evening With Lerner and Loewe" was last Winter term? This extravaganza will be held in the auditorium.

On Saturday, February 19th the Music Department will host the Palm Beach County Honors Band at 8 PM in the Gym. On Wednesday, March 16 will be the Jazz Band Festival at 8 PM in the auditorium.

The drama department will again host the County High School Drama Festival March 3, 4 and 5. Winners of the contest will present their productions evenings of 4 and 5, plus a one act play by PBJC Players. Public is invited to the programs in the auditorium. Also a spring production is planned by the PBJC dramatists and Phi Rho Pi.

Please watch bulletins and public announcements for further information regarding dates and performances of the Music programs and Drama productions.

Don't forget to see the recent works of the PBJC Art Faculty February 1 - 28 in the Gallery of Humanities Building. On March 2 - 31 Roger Rudy will exhibit paintings, rich in color and detailed subject matter. April 4 - 29 will close this seasons exhibits with work of PBJC Students from the School Year in a Student Exhibition. Gallery is open during regular school hours.

New Print Shop Arrival

Loraine Kent, Print Shop Supervisor is announcing a new press which has arrived in the Print Shop. A 1250 Multilith was delivered during the first week of December. The new equipment was needed because the Print Shop serves the 4 campus/centers and the workload has increased over 50% during the past 6 months.

Diane Lester, a "press person" and Loraine Kent, who doubles as an operator have worked diligently to get jobs out "due yesterday" to put more smiles on campus. Ruth Lafferty, the "layout artist" reminds campus personnel that 2 weeks are needed to get the job ready.

Several short training sessions have since been held, but upon installation of the press Mr. Koontz, the department head, decided an initiation was in order. He "got a little ink in his blood if not on his clothes."

If Mrs. Kent appeared to be vague in the past few weeks it was due to the heavy mental decisions regarding the juggling of equipment, furniture and fellow cohorts to make the Print Shop a workable area with the addition of the new press.

Visitors will be welcome to inspect the changes when the dust has resettled so that others can share in the Print Shop's progressive future.

STUDENT ENROLLMENT REPORT

Data on file in the Research Office reveals that total student "head count" increased nominally compared with the winter term of a year ago. Total students enrolled in credit courses was 7870 versus 7718 a year ago. Although the total number of students enrolled in credit courses increased minimally the total semester hours decreased because there was an increase in part-time students even though full-time enrollment showed a decrease.

Combined student enrollment data for both the Fall and Winter Terms has shown a decrease for the first time in recent years. Many other educational institutions have experienced a drop in enrollment recently.

AROUND CAMPUS

Jessie McKenna of the Law Enforcement Department, reports that her family had a lovely Christmas season. Her daughter, Mary Jane, husband and three children drove from Ohio to spend ten days here. The children really hated to leave when the time came to go home. Jessie said they hid in the woods behind her house as she had jokingly suggested earlier, never dreaming they would take her up on it.

Joanna Michaels, Purchasing, has news about two of her children. Her daughter, Sandra, was married December 3 to Terry Singleton. Terry is an engineer at Pratt-Whitney and Sandra is a secretary. They have bought a home in Jupiter.

Joanna's son, Paris, who is a pilot, came in first for the Southeastern Regional Precision Flight championship. This qualifies him for the National Championships in Wichita, Kansas in May. Paris graduated from FIT in January, 1976. He is Chief Flight Instructor there and is also working on his Masters.

Debbie Jefferson, Finance, welcomed her husband home for the holidays from Syracuse, N.Y., where he is working on his Masters at Syracuse University.

The Dental Health Department reports that Betty Lacey who is on leave, has a new daughter, Leslie Lee, born January 8. Congratulations!

Barbara and Grant Bartels thoroughly enjoyed their cruise to Nassau, which they won at the FACC Conference. They left on Friday, December 7 and returned home on the 10th. While there they went on a sight-seeing tour of the island, shopped for gifts for their children, spent Saturday night at the Casino where they "gambled and lost all of $1.10". Sunday they attended an organized beach party where they were entertained by a marvelous steel drum band. "All in all, it was a most enjoyable trip", said Barbara.

Claude Edwards celebrated New Years in a different kind of way. He and Beverly Pierce, of Jacksonville, Florida, were married in Okemos, Michigan on that date. Beverly is employed by Southern Bell as a Communications Consultant.

Norma Woodyard spent the holidays in Tallahassee with her daughter June and family. She arrived just in time to welcome her new granddaughter, Cheryl Dawn, home from the hospital. Norma's son, Jack, Jr., was also in Tallahassee for Christmas. Jack has been working in Cleveland for the past year, but recently took a position with the Harco Company and will be stationed in Iran.

Jean Inzanti, her husband and daughter, flew to New York City for the holidays where they visited with Jean's father.

The first craft exhibit of staff workers is now on display on the second floor of the Library. These crafts will be on display through February 11, with a new display scheduled to begin on February 14. Anyone having crafts they would like to show please contact Joyce St. Bernard in the Library. We hope to have this as a continuing project.

PBJC BASKETBALL

The PBJC Pacer basketball team is off and running for another season. The team, under the direction of a new coach, Joe Ceravolo, and with many new faces on the squad is the most heavily attended sports activity at PBJC.

The Pacers are an exciting team to watch and their "run and gun" style of play is the main reason for the high degree of fan enthusiasm.

As of this writing the team's record is 11 and 8 with a number of home games remaining on their schedule. They also have a crack at the F.C.C.A.A. state tournament in Deland, March 3, 4, and 5 providing they finish 1st or 2nd in conference play.

One thing is for certain, the home court advantage is only an advantage when the team has the support of the students, faculty and staff as well as area fans. Basketball not only provides an important part of PBJC campus life but is an excellent source of family entertainment and a way for all of us to support our PBJC sports activity. As attendance increases, the fans will be rewarded with a brand of basketball that is exciting, highly competitive and an integral rewarding part of the ever-improving sports activity here at PBJC. Under the capable leadership of Dr. Howard Reynolds, the PBJC sports program is more than deserving of our support.
